

I'm not robot  reCAPTCHA

Continue

The tyra show

Tyra Banks Tyra Banks is the content creator of our time. The supermodel-turned-super-businesswoman has a long list of firsts, prestigious awards, and business and educational endeavors. Banks was the first African American model featured on the front cover of Sports Illustrated’s swimsuit issue in 1996 and then again 22 years later in 2019, as well as the Victoria’s Secret catalogue; she was also the first female model ever to pose for the cover of GQ. Banks was named one of The Hollywood Reporter’s 100 Most Powerful Women in Entertainment, Entertainment Weekly’s 25 Smartest in Television, and was America’s No. 1 host two seasons running on “America’s Got Talent.” She was listed twice on Time magazine’s 100 Most Influential People in the World and took the No. 1 spot on Forbes’ list of top earning women in primetime for two years in a row. In addition to being honored as one of Glamour magazine’s coveted Women of the Year award, she received two Emmy® Awards for “The Tyra Banks Show,” the first show ever to receive the award in the new informative category. After launching The Tyra Banks Company, she graduated in 2012 from the Owner/President Management program at Harvard Business School. Since 2017, Banks has shared her expertise and knowledge of personal branding as visiting professor at Stanford University Business School. Her latest venture, ModelLand, is a first-of-its kind experiential attraction that intersects the modeling world with state-of-the-art interactive entertainment. ModelLand will give people a new insight into modeling and branding, ultimately expanding the definition of beauty, something Banks has always believed in. Tyra is represented by UTA. Follow Tyra on Instagram, Twitter and Facebook. American talk show The Tyra Banks ShowAlso known asTyra & The Tyra ShowCreated byTyra BanksPresented byTyra BanksOpening theme"Just for Today" by India.Arie(2005–2007)"All That I Got (The Make Up Song) [Remix]" by Fergie(2007–2009)"I'm Coming Out" (Remix) by Diana Ross(2009–2010)Country of originUnited StatesOriginal languageEnglishNo. of seasons5No. of episodes810ProductionExecutive producersTyra Banks Benny Medina Kerrie Moriarty Rachel Miskowiec[1] John Redmann Alex DudarRunning time60 minutesProduction companiesHandprint Entertainment(2005-2006)(season 1)Bankable ProductionsTelepictures ProductionsDistributorWarner Bros. Television DistributionReleaseOriginal networkSyndication (2005–2009) The CW (2009–2010)Original releaseSeptember 12, 2005 (2005-09-12) –May 28, 2010 (2010-05-28) The Tyra Banks Show, also known as and shortened to Tyra or The Tyra Show, is an American talk show hosted by Tyra Banks that aired from 2005 to 2010. While Banks's show covered a variety of topics, there was a sensationalized focus on current issues facing women, with often special episodes on America’s Next Top Model, which Banks herself had also created and which she still hosts. In its later seasons, it took on a tabloid format similar to shows such as Maury and The Montel Williams Show, covering topics such as people with odd psychological problems, among other subjects. The show was aired in many countries, and also remained available on XM Satellite Radio’s Take Five channel in both the United States and Canada. History 2005–2009: Syndication The Tyra Banks Show premiered on September 12, 2005 in front of a live-to-tape audience at CBS Television City in Los Angeles, California In summer 2007, the show moved to New York City, where it was taped in the Chelsea Studios formerly occupied by Ricki Lake’s program,[2] being recorded in front of a live-to-tape audience at Chelsea Studios and Bankable Productions in New York City. The final five all-new episodes from Los Angeles were aired the week of September 3, 2007 and followed by the 3rd-season premiere on following week. September 10, 2007 in New York City. On December 19, 2007, the show was renewed an additional two seasons in syndication, 2008–2009 and 2009–2010. The fourth season began on September 8, 2008. However, in November 2008, Warner Bros. announced the program would move to The CW network’s daytime block in September 2009, with both an archive episode and a first-run episode airing daily. As The CW was already airing ANTM, network officials saw the move as a "strategic alignment of interests for The CW's stations", as both shows thus aired on the same channel nationwide.[3] 2009–2010: The CW and cancellation On September 7, 2009, Tyra made its debut on The CW, with a new logo and new music, a remixed version of "I'm Coming Out" by Diana Ross.[4] On December 28, 2009, it was announced that Season 5 would be the show's final season.[5] The last episode aired on Friday, May 28, 2010. The finale featured many special guest stars which included Mike Epps, Cheryl Tiegs, Miley Cyrus, LL Cool J, Rihanna, Michael Rapaport, and Robbi Morgan.[5] Reruns During the 2010–2011 television season, repeats aired on weekdays at 3:00–4:00pm on The CW affiliates until September 16, 2011. Reception Awards and nominations On June 20, 2008, The Tyra Banks Show won a Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative.[6] On August 30, 2009, The Tyra Banks Show won another Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative, beating out Dr. Phil and The Doctors. In 2010, The Tyra Banks Show was nominated for a GLAAD Media Award for "Outstanding Talk Show Episode" for the episode "Hell to Pay – Gay Teen Exorcism" during the 21st GLAAD Media Awards.[7] References ^ Albiniak, Paige. "Rachel Miskowiec Named Executive Producer of 'The Real'". Broadcasting & Cable. Retrieved 2019-04-22. ^ "Tyra Banks Show" Confirms Move to New York. TV Week, June 6, 2007 ^ Paige Albiniak, Exclusive: Tyra Banks' Talk Show Shifting From Syndication To CW, Broadcasting & Cable, November 21, 2008. ^ Tyra Banks Strips Down to Promote New Season, Reuters.com, August 18, 2009 ^ a b Tyra Banks Says Goodbye to Talk Show, People.com, December 28, 2009 ^ 35th Annual Daytime Entertainment Emmy Awards Presented at Star-Studded Gala on ABC. National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, June 20, 2008. Retrieved September 19, 2008. ^ "21st Annual GLAAD Media Awards - English Language Nominees". Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation. 2010. Retrieved February 21, 2010. External links The Tyra Banks Show at IMDb Retrieved from " In honor of the supermodel's 47th birthday on Dec. 4, we're celebrating her most iconic TV moments Read More The supermodel famously wore the swimsuit during an episode of The Tyra Banks Show in 2007 as a way to promote body positivity Read More A 15-year-old was brought onto Banks's show without parents' consent, a lawsuit claims Read More The TV host drops 30 lbs. but still embraces "my booty, my boobs, my thighs" Read More Last week, it was reported that Tyra Banks had decided to end her self-named daytime talk show. Ever since that time, rumors have been surfacing that the cancellation wasn't Banks' idea. Gossip columnist Janet Charlton is reporting that The Tyra Banks Show was indeed cancelled, but not by the host herself. The show was reportedly too expensive to produce when measured against the profits. Part of that supposedly stems from Banks' large salary and the expenses incurred from moving the show from Los Angeles to New York at the start of season three. While it's hard to know if this information is completely accurate, the expense issues line up with what we do know for sure. Loading ... When the show was in first-run syndication, local stations were paying cash license fees and giving Warner Bros. national ad time. When it moved to the CW afternoon schedule, it switched to an all-barber basis which is less profitable. The number of original shows was also reduced this season. The usual 34 weeks of production was cut down to 26 weeks. Repeats of earlier episodes filled in the gaps. Banks reportedly told her staffers that the show was over as the news was being reported in the media. The Daily News quotes a former staffer that says that this wasn't a surprise. When the show moved across the country, many on the staff weren't told the news directly and had to find out through the grapevine. Many of them moved to the East Coast to keep their jobs and will soon be out of work. What do you think? Did Banks decide to end the show or was the decision made for her? Image courtesy Warner Bros. SHE'S BACK THANKFUL. THICKER, WISER, CHANGING THE GAME. AND HER MODEL NAME. MODELLAND A GROUND BREAKING ATTRACTION DISCOVER YOURSELF. GET DISCOVERED. YELLOW LOVE I JUST CAN'T GET ENOUGH SHINE BRIGHTER. SHINE FARTHER. MS. BANKS TYRA THE TEACHER MORE THAN JUST THE PROFESSOR OF THE SMILE. Remarquée dans la rue, Tyra Banks est l'une des cover-girls les plus renommées. Cette Californienne débute sa carrière à Paris où elle travaille pour Chanel et Saint Laurent. Puis retourne aux Etats-Unis et enchaîne les contrats pub pour Pepsi, Nike, Escada... En 1997, elle devient le premier mannequin noir à poser pour Victoria's Secret, la marquée de lingerie culte. Depuis 2005, Tyra Banks a cessé de défilér pour se consacrer à son émission qui fait un tabac outre-Atlantique « The Tyra Banks Show ». TENDANCE – Kate Middleton, Julianne Moore... Les stars montrent leur côté sexy en dentelle Léa T, Hari Nef, Inès Rau... Transsexuelles au top Tyra Banks dévoile son vrai visage Winnie Harlow, une beauté particulière Page 214 juillet : Gilles Bouleau et Anne-Claire Coudray ahuris par une « scène de ménage » au sommet de l'EtatCoup dur pour Emmanuel Macron : un de ses proches quitte le navire...« Je suis écoeuré » : le prince William pousse un gros coup de gueuleNicolas Sarkozy et Cecilia : ces luxeuses vacances avec Rachida Dati ont scellé leur divorceCharlene de Monaco : ces achats en Afrique du Sud qui sèment le trouble Season: 12 -- Pictured: Tyra Banks --Season: 13 -- Pictured: Tyra Banks --sur 100 Tyra Banks hosts a Nine West fashion event in celebration of International Women's Day on March 5, 2020, in West Hollywood, California. Amy Sussman/Getty Images for ABA Two beautiful Tyra Banks narratives stand before me, all over my Twitter timeline. One, the story of an underdog supermodel-turned-fairy godmother, who helps young women follow their modeling dreams; the other, the story of a tyrant disguised in the lingerie of a Victoria’s Secret Angel. And only one of these narratives will go on to be the story of one of America’s all-time top models. A swirling combination of quarantine boredom, Amazon Prime’s ill-considered catalog, and the internet’s power to bring us closer together has turned the blazing division between which of these two storylines could be the truth behind Tyra Banks into a phenomenon for all of us — anyone online, not just fans of her. ModelLand, is a first-of-its kind experiential attraction that intersects the modeling world with state-of-the-art interactive entertainment. ModelLand will give people a new insight into modeling and branding, ultimately expanding the definition of beauty, something Banks has always believed in. Tyra is represented by UTA. Follow Tyra on Instagram, Twitter and Facebook. American talk show The Tyra Banks ShowAlso known asTyra & The Tyra ShowCreated byTyra BanksPresented byTyra BanksOpening theme"Just for Today" by India.Arie(2005–2007)"All That I Got (The Make Up Song) [Remix]" by Fergie(2007–2009)"I'm Coming Out" (Remix) by Diana Ross(2009–2010)Country of originUnited StatesOriginal languageEnglishNo. of seasons5No. of episodes810ProductionExecutive producersTyra Banks Benny Medina Kerrie Moriarty Rachel Miskowiec[1] John Redmann Alex DudarRunning time60 minutesProduction companiesHandprint Entertainment(2005-2006)(season 1)Bankable ProductionsTelepictures ProductionsDistributorWarner Bros. Television DistributionReleaseOriginal networkSyndication (2005–2009) The CW (2009–2010)Original releaseSeptember 12, 2005 (2005-09-12) –May 28, 2010 (2010-05-28) The Tyra Banks Show, also known as and shortened to Tyra or The Tyra Show, is an American talk show hosted by Tyra Banks that aired from 2005 to 2010. While Banks's show covered a variety of topics, there was a sensationalized focus on current issues facing women, with often special episodes on America’s Next Top Model, which Banks herself had also created and which she still hosts. In its later seasons, it took on a tabloid format similar to shows such as Maury and The Montel Williams Show, covering topics such as people with odd psychological problems, among other subjects. The show was aired in many countries, and also remained available on XM Satellite Radio’s Take Five channel in both the United States and Canada. History 2005–2009: Syndication The Tyra Banks Show premiered on September 12, 2005 in front of a live-to-tape audience at CBS Television City in Los Angeles, California In summer 2007, the show moved to New York City, where it was taped in the Chelsea Studios formerly occupied by Ricki Lake’s program,[2] being recorded in front of a live-to-tape audience at Chelsea Studios and Bankable Productions in New York City. The final five all-new episodes from Los Angeles were aired the week of September 3, 2007 and followed by the 3rd-season premiere on following week. September 10, 2007 in New York City. On December 19, 2007, the show was renewed an additional two seasons in syndication, 2008–2009 and 2009–2010. The fourth season began on September 8, 2008. However, in November 2008, Warner Bros. announced the program would move to The CW network’s daytime block in September 2009, with both an archive episode and a first-run episode airing daily. As The CW was already airing ANTM, network officials saw the move as a "strategic alignment of interests for The CW's stations", as both shows thus aired on the same channel nationwide.[3] 2009–2010: The CW and cancellation On September 7, 2009, Tyra made its debut on The CW, with a new logo and new music, a remixed version of "I'm Coming Out" by Diana Ross.[4] On December 28, 2009, it was announced that Season 5 would be the show's final season.[5] The last episode aired on Friday, May 28, 2010. The finale featured many special guest stars which included Mike Epps, Cheryl Tiegs, Miley Cyrus, LL Cool J, Rihanna, Michael Rapaport, and Robbi Morgan.[5] Reruns During the 2010–2011 television season, repeats aired on weekdays at 3:00–4:00pm on The CW affiliates until September 16, 2011. Reception Awards and nominations On June 20, 2008, The Tyra Banks Show won a Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative.[6] On August 30, 2009, The Tyra Banks Show won another Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative, beating out Dr. Phil and The Doctors. In 2010, The Tyra Banks Show was nominated for a GLAAD Media Award for "Outstanding Talk Show Episode" for the episode "Hell to Pay – Gay Teen Exorcism" during the 21st GLAAD Media Awards.[7] References ^ Albiniak, Paige. "Rachel Miskowiec Named Executive Producer of 'The Real'". Broadcasting & Cable. Retrieved 2019-04-22. ^ "Tyra Banks Show" Confirms Move to New York. TV Week, June 6, 2007 ^ Paige Albiniak, Exclusive: Tyra Banks' Talk Show Shifting From Syndication To CW, Broadcasting & Cable, November 21, 2008. ^ Tyra Banks Strips Down to Promote New Season, Reuters.com, August 18, 2009 ^ a b Tyra Banks Says Goodbye to Talk Show, People.com, December 28, 2009 ^ 35th Annual Daytime Entertainment Emmy Awards Presented at Star-Studded Gala on ABC. National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, June 20, 2008. Retrieved September 19, 2008. ^ "21st Annual GLAAD Media Awards - English Language Nominees". Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation. 2010. Retrieved February 21, 2010. External links The Tyra Banks Show at IMDb Retrieved from " In honor of the supermodel's 47th birthday on Dec. 4, we're celebrating her most iconic TV moments Read More The supermodel famously wore the swimsuit during an episode of The Tyra Banks Show in 2007 as a way to promote body positivity Read More A 15-year-old was brought onto Banks's show without parents' consent, a lawsuit claims Read More The TV host drops 30 lbs. but still embraces "my booty, my boobs, my thighs" Read More Last week, it was reported that Tyra Banks had decided to end her self-named daytime talk show. Ever since that time, rumors have been surfacing that the cancellation wasn't Banks' idea. Gossip columnist Janet Charlton is reporting that The Tyra Banks Show was indeed cancelled, but not by the host herself. The show was reportedly too expensive to produce when measured against the profits. Part of that supposedly stems from Banks' large salary and the expenses incurred from moving the show from Los Angeles to New York at the start of season three. While it's hard to know if this information is completely accurate, the expense issues line up with what we do know for sure. Loading ... When the show was in first-run syndication, local stations were paying cash license fees and giving Warner Bros. national ad time. When it moved to the CW afternoon schedule, it switched to an all-barber basis which is less profitable. The number of original shows was also reduced this season. The usual 34 weeks of production was cut down to 26 weeks. Repeats of earlier episodes filled in the gaps. Banks reportedly told her staffers that the show was over as the news was being reported in the media. The Daily News quotes a former staffer that says that this wasn't a surprise. When the show moved across the country, many on the staff weren't told the news directly and had to find out through the grapevine. Many of them moved to the East Coast to keep their jobs and will soon be out of work. What do you think? Did Banks decide to end the show or was the decision made for her? Image courtesy Warner Bros. SHE'S BACK THANKFUL. THICKER, WISER, CHANGING THE GAME. AND HER MODEL NAME. MODELLAND A GROUND BREAKING ATTRACTION DISCOVER YOURSELF. GET DISCOVERED. YELLOW LOVE I JUST CAN'T GET ENOUGH SHINE BRIGHTER. SHINE FARTHER. MS. BANKS TYRA THE TEACHER MORE THAN JUST THE PROFESSOR OF THE SMILE. Remarquée dans la rue, Tyra Banks est l'une des cover-girls les plus renommées. Cette Californienne débute sa carrière à Paris où elle travaille pour Chanel et Saint Laurent. Puis retourne aux Etats-Unis et enchaîne les contrats pub pour Pepsi, Nike, Escada... En 1997, elle devient le premier mannequin noir à poser pour Victoria's Secret, la marquée de lingerie culte. Depuis 2005, Tyra Banks a cessé de défilér pour se consacrer à son émission qui fait un tabac outre-Atlantique « The Tyra Banks Show ». TENDANCE – Kate Middleton, Julianne Moore... Les stars montrent leur côté sexy en dentelle Léa T, Hari Nef, Inès Rau... Transsexuelles au top Tyra Banks dévoile son vrai visage Winnie Harlow, une beauté particulière Page 214 juillet : Gilles Bouleau et Anne-Claire Coudray ahuris par une « scène de ménage » au sommet de l'EtatCoup dur pour Emmanuel Macron : un de ses proches quitte le navire...« Je suis écoeuré » : le prince William pousse un gros coup de gueuleNicolas Sarkozy et Cecilia : ces luxeuses vacances avec Rachida Dati ont scellé leur divorceCharlene de Monaco : ces achats en Afrique du Sud qui sèment le trouble Season: 12 -- Pictured: Tyra Banks --Season: 13 -- Pictured: Tyra Banks --sur 100 Tyra Banks hosts a Nine West fashion event in celebration of International Women's Day on March 5, 2020, in West Hollywood, California. Amy Sussman/Getty Images for ABA Two beautiful Tyra Banks narratives stand before me, all over my Twitter timeline. One, the story of an underdog supermodel-turned-fairy godmother, who helps young women follow their modeling dreams; the other, the story of a tyrant disguised in the lingerie of a Victoria’s Secret Angel. And only one of these narratives will go on to be the story of one of America’s all-time top models. A swirling combination of quarantine boredom, Amazon Prime’s ill-considered catalog, and the internet’s power to bring us closer together has turned the blazing division between which of these two storylines could be the truth behind Tyra Banks into a phenomenon for all of us — anyone online, not just fans of her. ModelLand, is a first-of-its kind experiential attraction that intersects the modeling world with state-of-the-art interactive entertainment. ModelLand will give people a new insight into modeling and branding, ultimately expanding the definition of beauty, something Banks has always believed in. Tyra is represented by UTA. Follow Tyra on Instagram, Twitter and Facebook. American talk show The Tyra Banks ShowAlso known asTyra & The Tyra ShowCreated byTyra BanksPresented byTyra BanksOpening theme"Just for Today" by India.Arie(2005–2007)"All That I Got (The Make Up Song) [Remix]" by Fergie(2007–2009)"I'm Coming Out" (Remix) by Diana Ross(2009–2010)Country of originUnited StatesOriginal languageEnglishNo. of seasons5No. of episodes810ProductionExecutive producersTyra Banks Benny Medina Kerrie Moriarty Rachel Miskowiec[1] John Redmann Alex DudarRunning time60 minutesProduction companiesHandprint Entertainment(2005-2006)(season 1)Bankable ProductionsTelepictures ProductionsDistributorWarner Bros. Television DistributionReleaseOriginal networkSyndication (2005–2009) The CW (2009–2010)Original releaseSeptember 12, 2005 (2005-09-12) –May 28, 2010 (2010-05-28) The Tyra Banks Show, also known as and shortened to Tyra or The Tyra Show, is an American talk show hosted by Tyra Banks that aired from 2005 to 2010. While Banks's show covered a variety of topics, there was a sensationalized focus on current issues facing women, with often special episodes on America’s Next Top Model, which Banks herself had also created and which she still hosts. In its later seasons, it took on a tabloid format similar to shows such as Maury and The Montel Williams Show, covering topics such as people with odd psychological problems, among other subjects. The show was aired in many countries, and also remained available on XM Satellite Radio’s Take Five channel in both the United States and Canada. History 2005–2009: Syndication The Tyra Banks Show premiered on September 12, 2005 in front of a live-to-tape audience at CBS Television City in Los Angeles, California In summer 2007, the show moved to New York City, where it was taped in the Chelsea Studios formerly occupied by Ricki Lake’s program,[2] being recorded in front of a live-to-tape audience at Chelsea Studios and Bankable Productions in New York City. The final five all-new episodes from Los Angeles were aired the week of September 3, 2007 and followed by the 3rd-season premiere on following week. September 10, 2007 in New York City. On December 19, 2007, the show was renewed an additional two seasons in syndication, 2008–2009 and 2009–2010. The fourth season began on September 8, 2008. However, in November 2008, Warner Bros. announced the program would move to The CW network’s daytime block in September 2009, with both an archive episode and a first-run episode airing daily. As The CW was already airing ANTM, network officials saw the move as a "strategic alignment of interests for The CW's stations", as both shows thus aired on the same channel nationwide.[3] 2009–2010: The CW and cancellation On September 7, 2009, Tyra made its debut on The CW, with a new logo and new music, a remixed version of "I'm Coming Out" by Diana Ross.[4] On December 28, 2009, it was announced that Season 5 would be the show's final season.[5] The last episode aired on Friday, May 28, 2010. The finale featured many special guest stars which included Mike Epps, Cheryl Tiegs, Miley Cyrus, LL Cool J, Rihanna, Michael Rapaport, and Robbi Morgan.[5] Reruns During the 2010–2011 television season, repeats aired on weekdays at 3:00–4:00pm on The CW affiliates until September 16, 2011. Reception Awards and nominations On June 20, 2008, The Tyra Banks Show won a Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative.[6] On August 30, 2009, The Tyra Banks Show won another Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative, beating out Dr. Phil and The Doctors. In 2010, The Tyra Banks Show was nominated for a GLAAD Media Award for "Outstanding Talk Show Episode" for the episode "Hell to Pay – Gay Teen Exorcism" during the 21st GLAAD Media Awards.[7] References ^ Albiniak, Paige. "Rachel Miskowiec Named Executive Producer of 'The Real'". Broadcasting & Cable. Retrieved 2019-04-22. ^ "Tyra Banks Show" Confirms Move to New York. TV Week, June 6, 2007 ^ Paige Albiniak, Exclusive: Tyra Banks' Talk Show Shifting From Syndication To CW, Broadcasting & Cable, November 21, 2008. ^ Tyra Banks Strips Down to Promote New Season, Reuters.com, August 18, 2009 ^ a b Tyra Banks Says Goodbye to Talk Show, People.com, December 28, 2009 ^ 35th Annual Daytime Entertainment Emmy Awards Presented at Star-Studded Gala on ABC. National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, June 20, 2008. Retrieved September 19, 2008. ^ "21st Annual GLAAD Media Awards - English Language Nominees". Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation. 2010. Retrieved February 21, 2010. External links The Tyra Banks Show at IMDb Retrieved from " In honor of the supermodel's 47th birthday on Dec. 4, we're celebrating her most iconic TV moments Read More The supermodel famously wore the swimsuit during an episode of The Tyra Banks Show in 2007 as a way to promote body positivity Read More A 15-year-old was brought onto Banks's show without parents' consent, a lawsuit claims Read More The TV host drops 30 lbs. but still embraces "my booty, my boobs, my thighs" Read More Last week, it was reported that Tyra Banks had decided to end her self-named daytime talk show. Ever since that time, rumors have been surfacing that the cancellation wasn't Banks' idea. Gossip columnist Janet Charlton is reporting that The Tyra Banks Show was indeed cancelled, but not by the host herself. The show was reportedly too expensive to produce when measured against the profits. Part of that supposedly stems from Banks' large salary and the expenses incurred from moving the show from Los Angeles to New York at the start of season three. While it's hard to know if this information is completely accurate, the expense issues line up with what we do know for sure. Loading ... When the show was in first-run syndication, local stations were paying cash license fees and giving Warner Bros. national ad time. When it moved to the CW afternoon schedule, it switched to an all-barber basis which is less profitable. The number of original shows was also reduced this season. The usual 34 weeks of production was cut down to 26 weeks. Repeats of earlier episodes filled in the gaps. Banks reportedly told her staffers that the show was over as the news was being reported in the media. The Daily News quotes a former staffer that says that this wasn't a surprise. When the show moved across the country, many on the staff weren't told the news directly and had to find out through the grapevine. Many of them moved to the East Coast to keep their jobs and will soon be out of work. What do you think? Did Banks decide to end the show or was the decision made for her? Image courtesy Warner Bros. SHE'S BACK THANKFUL. THICKER, WISER, CHANGING THE GAME. AND HER MODEL NAME. MODELLAND A GROUND BREAKING ATTRACTION DISCOVER YOURSELF. GET DISCOVERED. YELLOW LOVE I JUST CAN'T GET ENOUGH SHINE BRIGHTER. SHINE FARTHER. MS. BANKS TYRA THE TEACHER MORE THAN JUST THE PROFESSOR OF THE SMILE. Remarquée dans la rue, Tyra Banks est l'une des cover-girls les plus renommées. Cette Californienne débute sa carrière à Paris où elle travaille pour Chanel et Saint Laurent. Puis retourne aux Etats-Unis et enchaîne les contrats pub pour Pepsi, Nike, Escada... En 1997, elle devient le premier mannequin noir à poser pour Victoria's Secret, la marquée de lingerie culte. Depuis 2005, Tyra Banks a cessé de défilér pour se consacrer à son émission qui fait un tabac outre-Atlantique « The Tyra Banks Show ». TENDANCE – Kate Middleton, Julianne Moore... Les stars montrent leur côté sexy en dentelle Léa T, Hari Nef, Inès Rau... Transsexuelles au top Tyra Banks dévoile son vrai visage Winnie Harlow, une beauté particulière Page 214 juillet : Gilles Bouleau et Anne-Claire Coudray ahuris par une « scène de ménage » au sommet de l'EtatCoup dur pour Emmanuel Macron : un de ses proches quitte le navire...« Je suis écoeuré » : le prince William pousse un gros coup de gueuleNicolas Sarkozy et Cecilia : ces luxeuses vacances avec Rachida Dati ont scellé leur divorceCharlene de Monaco : ces achats en Afrique du Sud qui sèment le trouble Season: 12 -- Pictured: Tyra Banks --Season: 13 -- Pictured: Tyra Banks --sur 100 Tyra Banks hosts a Nine West fashion event in celebration of International Women's Day on March 5, 2020, in West Hollywood, California. Amy Sussman/Getty Images for ABA Two beautiful Tyra Banks narratives stand before me, all over my Twitter timeline. One, the story of an underdog supermodel-turned-fairy godmother, who helps young women follow their modeling dreams; the other, the story of a tyrant disguised in the lingerie of a Victoria’s Secret Angel. And only one of these narratives will go on to be the story of one of America’s all-time top models. A swirling combination of quarantine boredom, Amazon Prime’s ill-considered catalog, and the internet’s power to bring us closer together has turned the blazing division between which of these two storylines could be the truth behind Tyra Banks into a phenomenon for all of us — anyone online, not just fans of her. ModelLand, is a first-of-its kind experiential attraction that intersects the modeling world with state-of-the-art interactive entertainment. ModelLand will give people a new insight into modeling and branding, ultimately expanding the definition of beauty, something Banks has always believed in. Tyra is represented by UTA. Follow Tyra on Instagram, Twitter and Facebook. American talk show The Tyra Banks ShowAlso known asTyra & The Tyra ShowCreated byTyra BanksPresented byTyra BanksOpening theme"Just for Today" by India.Arie(2005–2007)"All That I Got (The Make Up Song) [Remix]" by Fergie(2007–2009)"I'm Coming Out" (Remix) by Diana Ross(2009–2010)Country of originUnited StatesOriginal languageEnglishNo. of seasons5No. of episodes810ProductionExecutive producersTyra Banks Benny Medina Kerrie Moriarty Rachel Miskowiec[1] John Redmann Alex DudarRunning time60 minutesProduction companiesHandprint Entertainment(2005-2006)(season 1)Bankable ProductionsTelepictures ProductionsDistributorWarner Bros. Television DistributionReleaseOriginal networkSyndication (2005–2009) The CW (2009–2010)Original releaseSeptember 12, 2005 (2005-09-12) –May 28, 2010 (2010-05-28) The Tyra Banks Show, also known as and shortened to Tyra or The Tyra Show, is an American talk show hosted by Tyra Banks that aired from 2005 to 2010. While Banks's show covered a variety of topics, there was a sensationalized focus on current issues facing women, with often special episodes on America’s Next Top Model, which Banks herself had also created and which she still hosts. In its later seasons, it took on a tabloid format similar to shows such as Maury and The Montel Williams Show, covering topics such as people with odd psychological problems, among other subjects. The show was aired in many countries, and also remained available on XM Satellite Radio’s Take Five channel in both the United States and Canada. History 2005–2009: Syndication The Tyra Banks Show premiered on September 12, 2005 in front of a live-to-tape audience at CBS Television City in Los Angeles, California In summer 2007, the show moved to New York City, where it was taped in the Chelsea Studios formerly occupied by Ricki Lake’s program,[2] being recorded in front of a live-to-tape audience at Chelsea Studios and Bankable Productions in New York City. The final five all-new episodes from Los Angeles were aired the week of September 3, 2007 and followed by the 3rd-season premiere on following week. September 10, 2007 in New York City. On December 19, 2007, the show was renewed an additional two seasons in syndication, 2008–2009 and 2009–2010. The fourth season began on September 8, 2008. However, in November 2008, Warner Bros. announced the program would move to The CW network’s daytime block in September 2009, with both an archive episode and a first-run episode airing daily. As The CW was already airing ANTM, network officials saw the move as a "strategic alignment of interests for The CW's stations", as both shows thus aired on the same channel nationwide.[3] 2009–2010: The CW and cancellation On September 7, 2009, Tyra made its debut on The CW, with a new logo and new music, a remixed version of "I'm Coming Out" by Diana Ross.[4] On December 28, 2009, it was announced that Season 5 would be the show's final season.[5] The last episode aired on Friday, May 28, 2010. The finale featured many special guest stars which included Mike Epps, Cheryl Tiegs, Miley Cyrus, LL Cool J, Rihanna, Michael Rapaport, and Robbi Morgan.[5] Reruns During the 2010–2011 television season, repeats aired on weekdays at 3:00–4:00pm on The CW affiliates until September 16, 2011. Reception Awards and nominations On June 20, 2008, The Tyra Banks Show won a Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative.[6] On August 30, 2009, The Tyra Banks Show won another Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative, beating out Dr. Phil and The Doctors. In 2010, The Tyra Banks Show was nominated for a GLAAD Media Award for "Outstanding Talk Show Episode" for the episode "Hell to Pay – Gay Teen Exorcism" during the 21st GLAAD Media Awards.[7] References ^ Albiniak, Paige. "Rachel Miskowiec Named Executive Producer of 'The Real'". Broadcasting & Cable. Retrieved 2019-04-22. ^ "Tyra Banks Show" Confirms Move to New York. TV Week, June 6, 2007 ^ Paige Albiniak, Exclusive: Tyra Banks' Talk Show Shifting From Syndication To CW, Broadcasting & Cable, November 21, 2008. ^ Tyra Banks Strips Down to Promote New Season, Reuters.com, August 18, 2009 ^ a b Tyra Banks Says Goodbye to Talk Show, People.com, December 28, 2009 ^ 35th Annual Daytime Entertainment Emmy Awards Presented at Star-Studded Gala on ABC. National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, June 20, 2008. Retrieved September 19, 2008. ^ "21st Annual GLAAD Media Awards - English Language Nominees". Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation. 2010. Retrieved February 21, 2010. External links The Tyra Banks Show at IMDb Retrieved from " In honor of the supermodel's 47th birthday on Dec. 4, we're celebrating her most iconic TV moments Read More The supermodel famously wore the swimsuit during an episode of The Tyra Banks Show in 2007 as a way to promote body positivity Read More A 15-year-old was brought onto Banks's show without parents' consent, a lawsuit claims Read More The TV host drops 30 lbs. but still embraces "my booty, my boobs, my thighs" Read More Last week, it was reported that Tyra Banks had decided to end her self-named daytime talk show. Ever since that time, rumors have been surfacing that the cancellation wasn't Banks' idea. Gossip columnist Janet Charlton is reporting that The Tyra Banks Show was indeed cancelled, but not by the host herself. The show was reportedly too expensive to produce when measured against the profits. Part of that supposedly stems from Banks' large salary and the expenses incurred from moving the show from Los Angeles to New York at the start of season three. While it's hard to know if this information is completely accurate, the expense issues line up with what we do know for sure. Loading ... When the show was in first-run syndication, local stations were paying cash license fees and giving Warner Bros. national ad time. When it moved to the CW afternoon schedule, it switched to an all-barber basis which is less profitable. The number of original shows was also reduced this season. The usual 34 weeks of production was cut down to 26 weeks. Repeats of earlier episodes filled in the gaps. Banks reportedly told her staffers that the show was over as the news was being reported in the media. The Daily News quotes a former staffer that says that this wasn't a surprise. When the show moved across the country, many on the staff weren't told the news directly and had to find out through the grapevine. Many of them moved to the East Coast to keep their jobs and will soon be out of work. What do you think? Did Banks decide to end the show or was the decision made for her? Image courtesy Warner Bros. SHE'S BACK THANKFUL. THICKER, WISER, CHANGING THE GAME. AND HER MODEL NAME. MODELLAND A GROUND BREAKING ATTRACTION DISCOVER YOURSELF. GET DISCOVERED. YELLOW LOVE I JUST CAN'T GET ENOUGH SHINE BRIGHTER. SHINE FARTHER. MS. BANKS TYRA THE TEACHER MORE THAN JUST THE PROFESSOR OF THE SMILE. Remarquée dans la rue, Tyra Banks est l'une des cover-girls les plus renommées. Cette Californienne débute sa carrière à Paris où elle travaille pour Chanel et Saint Laurent. Puis retourne aux Etats-Unis et enchaîne les contrats pub pour Pepsi, Nike, Escada... En 1997, elle devient le premier mannequin noir à poser pour Victoria's Secret, la marquée de lingerie culte. Depuis 2005, Tyra Banks a cessé de défilér pour se consacrer à son émission qui fait un tabac outre-Atlantique « The Tyra Banks Show ». TENDANCE – Kate Middleton, Julianne Moore... Les stars montrent leur côté sexy en dentelle Léa T, Hari Nef, Inès Rau... Transsexuelles au top Tyra Banks dévoile son vrai visage Winnie Harlow, une beauté particulière Page 214 juillet : Gilles Bouleau et Anne-Claire Coudray ahuris par une « scène de ménage » au sommet de l'EtatCoup dur pour Emmanuel Macron : un de ses proches quitte le navire...« Je suis écoeuré » : le prince William pousse un gros coup de gueuleNicolas Sarkozy et Cecilia : ces luxeuses vacances avec Rachida Dati ont scellé leur divorceCharlene de Monaco : ces achats en Afrique du Sud qui sèment le trouble Season: 12 -- Pictured: Tyra Banks --Season: 13 -- Pictured: Tyra Banks --sur 100 Tyra Banks hosts a Nine West fashion event in celebration of International Women's Day on March 5, 2020, in West Hollywood, California. Amy Sussman/Getty Images for ABA Two beautiful Tyra Banks narratives stand before me, all over my Twitter timeline. One, the story of an underdog supermodel-turned-fairy godmother, who helps young women follow their modeling dreams; the other, the story of a tyrant disguised in the lingerie of a Victoria’s Secret Angel. And only one of these narratives will go on to be the story of one of America’s all-time top models. A swirling combination of quarantine boredom, Amazon Prime’s ill-considered catalog, and the internet’s power to bring us closer together has turned the blazing division between which of these two storylines could be the truth behind Tyra Banks into a phenomenon for all of us — anyone online, not just fans of her. ModelLand, is a first-of-its kind experiential attraction that intersects the modeling world with state-of-the-art interactive entertainment. ModelLand will give people a new insight into modeling and branding, ultimately expanding the definition of beauty, something Banks has always believed in. Tyra is represented by UTA. Follow Tyra on Instagram, Twitter and Facebook. American talk show The Tyra Banks ShowAlso known asTyra & The Tyra ShowCreated byTyra BanksPresented byTyra BanksOpening theme"Just for Today" by India.Arie(2005–2007)"All That I Got (The Make Up Song) [Remix]" by Fergie(2007–2009)"I'm Coming Out" (Remix) by Diana Ross(2009–2010)Country of originUnited StatesOriginal languageEnglishNo. of seasons5No. of episodes810ProductionExecutive producersTyra Banks Benny Medina Kerrie Moriarty Rachel Miskowiec[1] John Redmann Alex DudarRunning time60 minutesProduction companiesHandprint Entertainment(2005-2006)(season 1)Bankable ProductionsTelepictures ProductionsDistributorWarner Bros. Television DistributionReleaseOriginal networkSyndication (2005–2009) The CW (2009–2010)Original releaseSeptember 12, 2005 (2005-09-12) –May 28, 2010 (2010-05-28) The Tyra Banks Show, also known as and shortened to Tyra or The Tyra Show, is an American talk show hosted by Tyra Banks that aired from 2005 to 2010. While Banks's show covered a variety of topics, there was a sensationalized focus on current issues facing women, with often special episodes on America’s Next Top Model, which Banks herself had also created and which she still hosts. In its later seasons, it took on a tabloid format similar to shows such as Maury and The Montel Williams Show, covering topics such as people with odd psychological problems, among other subjects. The show was aired in many countries, and also remained available on XM Satellite Radio’s Take Five channel in both the United States and Canada. History 2005–2009: Syndication The Tyra Banks Show premiered on September 12, 2005 in front of a live-to-tape audience at CBS Television City in Los Angeles, California In summer 2007, the show moved to New York City, where it was taped in the Chelsea Studios formerly occupied by Ricki Lake’s program,[2] being recorded in front of a live-to-tape audience at Chelsea Studios and Bankable Productions in New York City. The final five all-new episodes from Los Angeles were aired the week of September 3, 2007 and followed by the 3rd-season premiere on following week. September 10, 2007 in New York City. On December 19, 2007, the show was renewed an additional two seasons in syndication, 2008–2009 and 2009–2010. The fourth season began on September 8, 2008. However, in November 2008, Warner Bros. announced the program would move to The CW network’s daytime block in September 2009, with both an archive episode and a first-run episode airing daily. As The CW was already airing ANTM, network officials saw the move as a "strategic alignment of interests for The CW's stations", as both shows thus aired on the same channel nationwide.[3] 2009–2010: The CW and cancellation On September 7, 2009, Tyra made its debut on The CW, with a new logo and new music, a remixed version of "I'm Coming Out" by Diana Ross.[4] On December 28, 2009, it was announced that Season 5 would be the show's final season.[5] The last episode aired on Friday, May 28, 2010. The finale featured many special guest stars which included Mike Epps, Cheryl Tiegs, Miley Cyrus, LL Cool J, Rihanna, Michael Rapaport, and Robbi Morgan.[5] Reruns During the 2010–2011 television season, repeats aired on weekdays at 3:00–4:00pm on The CW affiliates until September 16, 2011. Reception Awards and nominations On June 20, 2008, The Tyra Banks Show won a Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative.[6] On August 30, 2009, The Tyra Banks Show won another Daytime Emmy Award for Outstanding Talk Show Informative, beating out Dr. Phil and The Doctors. In 2010, The Tyra Banks Show was nominated for a GLAAD Media Award for "Outstanding Talk Show Episode" for the episode "Hell to Pay – Gay Teen Exorcism" during the 21st GLAAD Media Awards.[7] References ^ Albiniak, Paige. "Rachel Miskowiec Named Executive Producer of 'The Real'". Broadcasting & Cable. Retrieved 2019-04-22. ^ "Tyra Banks Show" Confirms Move to New York. TV Week, June 6, 2007 ^ Paige Albiniak, Exclusive: Tyra Banks' Talk Show Shifting From Syndication To CW, Broadcasting & Cable, November 21, 2008. ^ Tyra Banks Strips Down to Promote New Season, Reuters.com, August 18, 2009 ^ a b Tyra Banks Says Goodbye to Talk Show, People.com, December 28, 2009 ^ 35th Annual Daytime Entertainment Emmy Awards Presented at Star-Studded Gala on ABC. National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences, June 20, 2008. Retrieved September 19, 2008. ^ "21st Annual GLAAD Media Awards - English Language Nominees". Gay & Lesbian Alliance Against Defamation. 2010. Retrieved February 21, 2010. External links The Tyra Banks Show at IMDb Retrieved from " In honor of the supermodel's 47th birthday on Dec. 4, we're celebrating her most iconic TV moments Read More The supermodel famously wore the swimsuit during an episode of The Tyra Banks Show in 2007 as a way to promote body positivity Read More A 15-year-old was brought onto Banks's show without parents' consent, a lawsuit claims Read More The TV host drops 30 lbs. but still embraces "my booty, my boobs, my thighs" Read More Last week, it was reported that Tyra Banks had decided to end her self-named daytime talk show. Ever since that time, rumors have been surfacing that the cancellation wasn't Banks' idea. Gossip columnist Janet Charlton is reporting that The Tyra Banks Show was indeed cancelled, but not by the host herself. The show was reportedly too expensive to produce when measured against the profits. Part of that supposedly stems from Banks' large salary and the expenses incurred from moving the show from Los Angeles to New York at the start of season three. While it's hard to know if this information is completely accurate, the expense issues line up with what we do know for sure. Loading ... When the show was in first-run syndication, local stations were paying cash license fees and giving Warner Bros. national ad time. When it moved to the CW afternoon schedule, it switched to an all-barber basis which is less profitable. The number of original shows was also reduced this season. The usual 34 weeks of production was cut down to 26 weeks. Repeats of earlier episodes filled in the gaps. Banks reportedly told her staffers that the show was over as the news was being reported in the media. The Daily News quotes a former staffer that says that this wasn't a surprise. When the show moved across the country, many on the staff weren't told the news directly and had to find out through the grapevine. Many of them moved to the East Coast to keep their jobs and will soon be out of work. What do you think? Did Banks decide to end the show or was the decision made for her? Image courtesy Warner Bros. SHE'S BACK THANKFUL. THICKER, WISER, CHANGING THE GAME. AND HER MODEL NAME. MODELLAND A GROUND BREAKING ATTRACTION DISCOVER YOURSELF. GET DISCOVERED. YELLOW LOVE I JUST CAN'T GET ENOUGH SHINE BRIGHTER. SHINE FARTHER. MS. BANKS TYRA THE TEACHER MORE THAN JUST THE PROFESSOR OF THE SMILE. Remarquée dans la rue, Tyra Banks est l'une des cover-girls les plus renommées. Cette Californienne débute sa carrière à Paris où elle travaille pour Chanel et Saint Laurent. Puis retourne aux Etats-Unis et enchaîne les contrats pub pour Pepsi, Nike, Escada... En 1997, elle devient le premier mannequin noir à poser pour Victoria's Secret, la marquée de lingerie culte. Depuis 2005, Tyra Banks a cessé de défilér pour se consacrer à son émission qui fait un tabac outre-Atlantique « The Tyra Banks Show ». TENDANCE – Kate Middleton, Julianne Moore... Les stars montrent leur côté sexy en dentelle Léa T, Hari Nef, Inès Rau... Transsexuelles au top Tyra Banks dévoile son vrai visage Winnie Harlow, une beauté particulière Page 214 juillet : Gilles Bouleau